SIXTY INJURED AS TWO TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE

New York Car Blown From Tracks Into Another

New York, Jan. 26.—Sixty persons were hurt, ten seriously, when two trolley cars collided today at Columbia and Woodhull streets, Brooklyn. A strong wind from the river blew a trolley car from its tracks and it coasted into a larger car.

Fifty of the injured were cut by broken glass thrown in all directions by the shock of the collision. Ten were bruised and cut and were taken to hospitals.

URGE BENCH TERMS OF NOT LESS THAN 10 YEARS IN U. S.

Columbus, O., Jan. 26.—Before the mid-winter convention of the Ohio State Bar association ends here today members will express their favor of a constitutional amendment for equal salaries for judges and terms of not less than ten years each.

John A. Cline, Cleveland, chairman of the committee representing the salary proposal, asserted the measure "represents the bar sentiment in general," and William L. Hart, Alliance, urged that it be brought to a vote today.

Revision of the workmen's compensation statutes by submission of another legislative bill to permit furnishing of original evidence upon appeal to the Supreme Court and give the appellant other privileges was advocated in yesterday's afternoon session. Statutes dealing with the disbarment of attorneys and restriction of exerts witnesses to those appointed by the court, either upon request of attorneys or desire of the court, were recommendations approved also.

"Business principles used by the successful business men would eliminate 90 per cent of the inefficiency of the courts," declared Judge Homer G. Powell, Cleveland.

WOMAN ACCUSER TO TAKE WITNESS STAND ON MONDAY

Chicago, Jan. 26.—After a week-end respite from the wrack of the witness chair and the inquisition of spectators' glances, Mrs. Charlotte Leland will resume the witness stand Monday to continue the story of the love she bore her pastor.

Meantime center of interest shifted from the crowded courtroom to the shaded streets of Oak Park, fashionable suburb, and the gothic quiet of the First Baptist Church. Rev. Dr. Carl Case, pastor of the church, named as co-respondent, by Albert R. Leland, will take the place.

But the minister who still believed he had the confidence of many of his congregation, despite Leland's charges and the admissions of Mrs. Leland on the witness stand, will attend the services, with Mrs. Case.

The services Sunday are expected to indicate which way the wind of church sentiment is blowing since the latest expression of confidence in the minister last Wednesday, and the plans for united prayers for his vindication, before the reopening of the divorce hearing.

Leland and his wife will rest Sunday.

FATHER OF MOVIE STAR IS MURDERED

Chicago, Jan. 26.—On the theory that a murder has been committed the police and coroner's office started an investigation into the death today of Henry Harris, father of Mildred Harris, motion picture star, and divorced wife of Charles Chaplin.

Harris died in a South Shore hospital after a fight last night with a taxicab driver.

With Harris at the time was Carl A. Nyden, Jr., of the real estate firm with which Harris was connected. Nyden told doctors at the hospital that the chauffeur of a taxicab had been in an argument with Harris after the taxicab ran into Nyden's car. The driver escaped.

Democrats to Make Matter One of Their Chief Issues In Fight

JOHNSON DEMANDS

Declares That Lease Should Be Cancelled Without Any Delay.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Close on the heels today of the White House announcement that the Senate's investigation of oil leases is pointing toward "criminal prosecution," came a new sensation before the senate public lands committee.

Representatives of E. L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, who secured extensive leases in California from ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, appeared before the committee at its opening session and announced Doheny's willingness to reconvey the lands to the government.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Teapot Dome, with all its ugly aspects, was definitely thrust today into the approaching political campaign.

With the Democrats planning to make it one of their chief issues, and the White House indicating that criminal action is to follow the leasing of the great naval oil reserves by ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall, Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California, the only avowed candidate against President Coolidge came forth today with a demand that the leases be cancelled immediately. Johnson indicated he would deal extensively with Teapot Dome in his coming speeches.

"Of course," said the California senator, "there is only one thing that ought to be done and that is to cancel the leases. It is the only thing that can be done without the slightest demerit or delay and that is to cancel the lease."

"This is no time for technical legal disquisitions. The circumstances for a long time have required, and recent developments imperatively demand that those who ignorantly or wilfully, in good faith or had, entered into or approved or countenanced tainted contracts disposing of the public domain, should instantly repudiate them."

"This is the very least that any administration should do. It should have been done long ago; but it must be done, and done at once. There

HOPE TO REBUILD SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE THURSDAY

People of the Beavercreek Twp., School district served by Rural School No. 9, destroyed by fire Thursday night, may decide to follow one of two courses, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent.

1—They may agree to transport the 25 children who had been attending that school to another school, possibly to Alpha, or

2—They may keep the children out of school while the old building is being rebuilt.

A committee of the Board of Education of Beavercreek Twp., composed of Horace Ankeney, George Hare and S. H. Sheehan, was appointed by the board to go over the district and advise with patrons as to the course they would rather pursue.

Fire destroyed the building Thursday night, but left the brick walls standing. School officials believe they are sufficiently strong to justify rebuilding on the present site. P. P. Kearns, state building inspector told Superintendent Aultman Saturday he would send an inspector to meet with the board Monday morning at nine o'clock at Alpha, and to go with board members to inspect the ruins.

On the decision of the inspector as to the safety of the walls left standing will depend the decision on whether the building can be rebuilt now, or whether the walls will have to be torn down and a new building constructed.

Should patrons of the school decide to transport the children to another school or should the state inspector condemn the walls so that the building would have to be entirely rebuilt, the 25 pupils will probably be transported to Alpha. What assignment will be given the teacher, Miss Dorothy Walton, Indian River, who is under contract, will have to be decided later.

If the inspector says the building may be rebuilt, patrons may decide to keep the children out of school until it is finished. School officials have been told the building could be put in use again in three weeks. If that course is adopted the children will remain out of school that length of time and then will make up their enforced vacation at the end of the school year. School men expect to reach a decision through the opinion of the patrons and the decision of the state inspector, Monday.

DEATH TOLL IN ILLINOIS MINE BLAST REACHES 27; 8 INJURED

Sixty Are Still Missing Following Explosion Friday In Crearar-Clinch Company Mine Near Johnston City.

St. Louis Mo., Jan. 26.—Twenty-seven dead and eight injured were the toll of the blast in the Crearar-Clinch Coal Company's mine at Johnston City, Illinois, according to an official statement issued here today by R. Floyd Clinch, president of the company.

The mine was inspected by the company's safety engineer and by an insurance company's inspector only ten minutes before the blast, Clinch declared.

Death by suffocation and fire came to the 30 yesterday afternoon following an explosion of mine gas in the Crearar-Clinch Company's Main Side mine, one half mile east of here.

Three hundred and fifty men were in the mine. In a dash for the main entry, most of them reached the elevators and were brought 355 feet to the surface and safety.

Sixty still were missing. Grief-stricken miners' families who waited in zero darkness at the mouth of the mine while rescue teams worked in the debris below, today prepared for the funerals of the 30 workers killed in the explosion yesterday afternoon.

The death list was expected to grow. Six of the more seriously injured workers were not expected to live. Eight miners suffered lesser injuries, according to James Weir, head of the Benton Miners on the crew.

Hundreds of weeping women and workers pressed about the mouth of the 350 foot shaft during the night, awaiting the bringing up of the dead and injured.

A mile and a half along the tunnels leading away from the bottom of the shaft, rescue teams from Herrin and Benton extricated the bodies from the debris and moved the wounded toward the elevator shaft.

Other workers with picks and shovels hacked at the barrier near the explosion scene behind which most of the bodies were found.

The rescue workers, in communication with the surface by telephone,

THIRD COLD SNAP OF WINTER TAKES LIVES IN STATE

Columbus, Jan. 26.—All Ohio, excepting the extreme southern portion, awoke to find itself suffering from below zero weather this morning.

Temperatures ranged from two below to six below, except at extreme southern points of the state where the mercury registered a point or two above zero.

United States Weatherman Alexander here stated that the last 24 hours was marked by a drop in temperature of between 30 and 40 degrees in the lake region and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. A high pressure area, he said, indicated continued fair and cold weather with prospects that mercurial readings tonight will be practically the same as Friday night.

Rising temperature Sunday afternoon, he stated, should place Sunday night's minimum temperature at about 19 above zero.

Cleveland, Jan. 26.—With the temperature hovering around the zero mark today, Cleveland and environs were shivering in the third cold snap of the winter. Two men were dead as a result of the storm which yesterday lashed by a 60-mile gale, ushered in the cold wave.

Newark, O., Jan. 26.—The cold spell did not catch the people here napping as they were prepared for it. The mercury ranged from 3 to 7 below at various places in the city. There is not much suffering as the charity organizations are taking care of the poorer people.

Lima, O., Jan. 26.—Relief agencies were rushed today as the mercury hovered around seven below zero here. Coal men experienced one of the heaviest demands of the winter.

B. & O. LIMITED CRASHES INTO SEDAN SATURDAY MORNING AT RAVENNA

Train Said to Have Been Traveling at High Rate of Speed
—Victims, All Residents of Alliance, Were Returning From Cleveland

Ravenna, O., Jan. 26.—Four persons were instantly killed here this morning at 1:16 when the Baltimore and Ohio "Capitol Limited," traveling 75 miles an hour, struck a sedan automobile at the Chestnut street grade crossing.

The victims, all residents of Alliance, on their way home from Cleveland, were the only occupants of the car. The dead:

James Norris, 36, Alliance garage owner.

Miss Doras Wolf, 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Nofcier, a business partner of Norris.

According to reports to Ravenna police by William Norris, brother of the wreck victim, the party left Alliance Friday afternoon to go to the Cleveland automobile show. They were on the return trip when the accident occurred.

The automobile was a total wreck and bodies of the victims were strewn along the roadbed of the railroad. Norris' body was carried 1,000 feet.

Evidence that Norris, who it is believed, drove the car, endeavored to bring it to a stop at the crossing, was seen in the ice coated street.

Marks of a machine skidding were plainly visible, police said.

Members of the train crew said the train was going better than 60 miles an hour but police declare it was traveling 75 miles.

Corner Werden said Saturday he was undecided what action to take. Werden and police said they would get in touch with railroad officials at once in an effort to require the

SECRET MEDIATION USED IN ATTEMPT TO END RAIL STRIKE

London, Jan. 26.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald's new labor government is attempting secret mediation of the national strike of railway locomotive engineers and firemen, it was learned this afternoon.

While some of the strikers have returned to duty, the movement is not yet broken. Negotiations between strikers and the railway companies remain deadlocked.

Strike leaders intimated the subway workers might walk out in sympathy tomorrow or Monday.

Industries have begun to feel the full force of the rail strike. Many plants have been compelled to close down and others have given notice to their employees they will not reopen Monday.

The industrial loss from the strike during its first week is put at more than $10,000,000.

Premier MacDonald today ordered removal of the wooden barriers erected in Downing street to protect the premier's official residence, from Sinn Feiners and riotous unemployed workers.

These wooden bulwarks were built in 1920 when mobs of Sinn Feiners and mobs of unemployed men and women were making riotous scenes at the entrance of Downing street. The police guard within the old mansion also has been removed, despite the fact that Premier MacDonald has received a number of threatening letters. Scotland Yard is taking precautions to protect his life, despite his distaste for a police escort.

CONSTABULARY BURN TOWN OF FANATICS

Manila, Jan. 26.—After bombardment by the cruiser Sacramento of the entrance colorums, a fanatical Filipino organization at Socorro on Bucos Island, Colonel Bowers and 100 of the constabulary landed and charged the natives under a barrage fire laid down by the war vessel.

Because of difficulty of defense and re-embarkation in case of bad weather, Colonel Bowers ordered the town burned and returned to the Sacramento with his men. One constabulary was killed. The extent of the colorums casualties are unknown, two dead and two seriously burned having been found in the town.

FORD IS CALLED

Notification to this effect was sent to Ford at Detroit by Chairman Kahn of the committee.

watchman in the future to remain on duty at the crossing until the limited has passed.

The Capitol Limited is operated at a high rate of speed through the city, police say. It leaves Washington D. C. at four p. m. and is very seldom late.

The train travelled one fourth of a mile before it was brought to a stop.

Relatives today were arranging for removal of the bodies to Alliance. Norris' parents are spending the winter in Florida.

WARREN LINCOLN CONFESSES TO AMAZING CRIME

Tells Police of Aurora, Illinois That He Killed Two.

Aurora, Ills., Jan. 26.—Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer-horticulturist, and self styled distant relative Abraham Lincoln, today confessed one of the most amazing double killings in police annals, when he declared to Chief of Police Michels that he slew both his wife, Lina Shoup Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup, burned their bodies in a small greenhouse furnace at his small home near here and then imbedded their severed heads in a block of cement.

The cement block was found where Lincoln said it would be—in a dump near his cottage—and the heads taken from it. They were identified.

Lincoln added to the gruesome confession of his disposal of the two bodies by confessing anew that he and not his wife, as he had at first contended, killed Shoup and added other intricate details which brought the crime into the annals of the unusual.

"I went to the movies that night," Chief of Police Michels said Lincoln told him after the heads had been chopped from the cement. "When I got home Byron was not in his bed on the sleeping porch, and I knew he was in my wife's room. I could not stand it any longer. I shot Byron through the head."

"Then I ran to the greenhouse and got my rifle. Lina was crouched on the floor, crying when I got back to the house. I shot her, too."

Lincoln was nervous and pale, the chief said, as he ran through the strange narrative. He kissed his son John before he started his last confession and asked Chief Michels to care for him.

POLICE IN RAID FIND MIXTURE; IS CONFISCATED

Police declare they discovered a new cocktail and a new drink when they raided the restaurant and hotel operated by Paul Edwards, colored, 118 East Main Street, Friday afternoon.

It is a Fels Naphtha Cocktail and is mixed in a dish pan. The recipe is vague but is said to prescribe several parts of soapy dishwater and a couple of dashes of "white mule," or as it is known in California, "Jackass Brandy," because of its enormous kick.

Police discovered the mixture in a raid conducted by Chief of Police M. E. Graham, assisted by Patrolman James Sowards, George Spencer and Charles Thompson. The officers alighted from a police car in front of the building and rushed through the restaurant to the kitchen in the rear.

Edwards and a companion were in the kitchen playing cards, police say. There were also two women in the kitchen, one ironing and another washing dishes. There was no liquor in sight but the evidence was in the atmosphere. Police sniffed.

The sniff led them to the dishpan. They say the dishwasher emptied a coffee pot full of corn whiskey into the dishpan, and rinsed out the coffee pot. If the dishwasher did not dilute the corn whiskey below alcoholic content forbidden by law, police say they can make a case against Edwards.

Edwards was not arrested pending the report of the chemist. The dishwater was confiscated, poured in two jugs and taken to Police Headquarters.

FOREIGN INVESTORS HATED BY MEXICANS WHO RESENT HOLD

Mexico, City, Jan. 25.—"Mexico for Mexicans!"

With this cry soap-box orators and bolsheviks for many years have aroused in the breasts of their ignorant pen audiences the bitterest hatred for the "damnable meddling foreigners," who have "robbed" the Mexicans of their right heritage—the fruits of one of the richest countries on the face of the earth. For only one-third of the wealth of Mexico—a wealth that totals in terms of American money, more than $2,370,000,000—is in the hands of the Mexicans. The rest is in the firm grasp of foreigners, chiefly Americans, French and British.

According to governmental records and data, the total wealth of Mexico, despite its several upheavals since the downfall of the regime of President Porfirio Diaz in 1910, is approximately $4,752,344 pesos, equivalent in American money to $2,370,261,422.

Official records of the Mexican Government show that American capital invested in that country greatly exceeds that of any other nation.

Americans own $1,057,770,000 of Mexico's great wealth, or nearly one-half of the entire total, while the balance is held by Mexican and European capitalists, with England and France in the lead.

England and France hold jointly $454,768,000 with other foreign capitalists sharing to the extent of $118,535,380 of the total wealth, leaving the Mexican holdings at only $729,187,242 or about one third of the country's riches.

Yet while the more enlightened classes of Mexico do not hesitate to point with pride to its present total wealth, well knowing the trials and tribulations the country had to encounter during its fourteen years of strife, the cause of the present racial hatred has come directly from within the hearts of the bolshevik elements of the country, who have hatched and bred it and handed it down through the medium of unscrupulous and knavish soap-box orators to the great masses of illiterates in order to inflame these poor ignorant peons against outside capital and foreigners of every cast.

Modern Girl Prefers Present Day Styles In Hats To Phumy Elegance of Yesterday

Flapper Answers Critics of Times By Ridiculing Old-Time Styles

When you grab that cloche chapeau, slam it down on the old bean, pull out a lock of the shorn, and give it a forty-five degree angle did you ever stop to think 'ain't Old Dame Fashion grand'?

She may have been about 20 centuries in reaching the right place, but when she did she entered us girls' hearts.

Ladies and flappers, we are now enjoying the fruits of other girls' labors! Remember the days when all the hair you possessed and some you didn't was used in trying to cover up an extra large quantity of "rats." And when the sleek coiffure was finished, the effect was topped with the latest in "Merry Widows." And said "Merry Widow" was topped with enough plumes to dress an ostrich farm. The whole effect, "my deahs," if you admit to remember, was finished with large brilliant hat pins, the more brilliant the better. That was back in the days of 1910 or thereabouts. Just think girls, it took 14 years to reach this present day of freedom in headgear!

And so not to tax your remembering faculties, we ask you to recall the days of 1914, before the war, don't you know. That was when the dictates of Fashion dictated that the hair must be worn pulled back over the ears, (for the first time in history) and the hat must be as small as the law would allow, with a sweeping upward of a feather, the sky to be the limit. Maybe that's one reason the country went to war—for the men's sake!

While we are soliloquizing on styles of the past 20 years, or so, Mother passed a reminiscence or two of the days when she was a girl, and "up to the minute." Since we have confined our conversation to hats, now, we can't go into hysterics on the bustles and billows of those days, but they can be easily associated with the tiny pancake hat, on which rested, what resembled a pigeon, or something like that. Feathered trimming was the order of those days.

Ah, that perfect profile of the Gibson girl of 1905. We can honestly say we don't remember it, but it must of been a good laugh, to have the half of that girl's face, topped by what must have looked like a dessert of chiffon and flowers born forward by a strong rear wind!

Well, as we've said before we've arrived at the day of safe and sane hats! Listen to this advance dope on the real thing in head adornment for the coming spring: "Especially created for the 'flapper' is a mushroom model, whose saucy brim is made soft with an edging of velvet ribbon. The front is adorned with a floral motif of three-toned velvet ribbon." Sounds good, eh?

It seems as though this mushroom model is the real thing, especially for sport, according to the latest broadcasting from Dame Fashion. One concoction is of faille silk trimmed with harmonizing colored shirred ribbons. "Ribbon is charmingly featured," as the sweet young thing that puts it on your head and flatters you into paying for it, would say.

Linen sport hats are the cat's meow this season, it is said in the best circles. Striped linen and silk have been thought by the designer to be ideal fabrics to combine in a spring and summer chapeau, (stealing their

FINED IN COURT FOLLOWING RAID

William Cummings, 37, Scotsburn Apts., Main and West Sts., is said to have made his boast that Police could not "get him" for bootlegging police say.

Cummings was fined $500 and costs on a charge of possessing liquor by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Saturday morning. His arrest followed a raid on his apartment Friday afternoon when a quart of corn whiskey was confiscated by police.

Chief of Police M. E. Graham led the raiding party which included Patrolmen Sowards, Thompson and Spencer. They entered the apartment by two different entrances and found the quart of corn whiskey concealed behind a box in the kitchen, they say.

Cummings was across the street at the time, but hastened home in time to be arrested.

PORT WILLIAM

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin in the Port William neighborhood was the scene of a very pleasant surprise, Sunday, when Mr. Martin was reminded of his 24th birthday anniversary by a number of friends and relatives gathering at the noon hour with the usual well-filled baskets. Upon his arrival home, he was greeted by many unexpected guests, surrounding a long table laden with every good thing to eat and centered with a beautiful birthday cake on which were 25 tiny pink candles.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Martin and daughter, Ethel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin and son, Darrel, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chestnut and children, Mrs. V. E. Hutchens and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. Will Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Larrick and son, Paul, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Pollard and son, Horbert, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Black, Harold Black, Misses Alva Black, Louella Martin and Mildred Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were surprised again in the evening when another group of friends arrived, bringing refreshments of homemade ice cream and cake. They were members of the "Jolly dozen," and before their departure all proved themselves worthy of membership, the hours very pleasantly spent in games, affording much merriment, and a jolly good time.

COMPLETES FORTY YEARS' SERVICE AS A FIRE FIGHTER

New York, Jan. 25.—You know "Smoky Joe," of course. Everybody does—that is, everybody who reads the newspapers.

For forty years now "Smoky Joe's" name has been repeated in story and headline.

Recall the time he went into the blazing box factory over on the Bow-ry and rescued thirteen imprisoned girls? Then there was his heroic work in the great Equitable fire; the Jane street warehouse disaster, the Rockaway Peninsula blaze, the great oil conflagration at Greenpoint—all parts of America's fighting history.

And so now they have crowned Joseph B. Martin "World's Champion Fireman."

"Smoky Joe" has been forty years earning the title. "Forty years!" "It's 'Smoky Joe' speaking. 'Gosh! Who'd think it? Don't seem like ten. Remember my first fire well, it was at Box 38." "Smoky Joe" like all true firemen, refers to all great fires, not by the name of the building destroyed, but by the nearest alarm-box number. "I was a kid. Been raised just over the fence from old Twenty-seven Engine. Always wanted to join the gang. They took me on." From that day to this "Smoky Joe" has never had a call down. Always he has worked in the down town district and always he has lived over by the gas house and Twenty-seven Engine.

His rise to Assistant Fire Chief of New York was rapid. "Smoky Joe" knew how to fight fires—and he fought them.

Many's the tale he can tell. Always he makes the "boys" the hero.

"Where did I get the name 'Smoky Joe'?"

NAMED "SMOKY JOE" "I'll tell you. We had a fire at Box 141. It was a warehouse blaze—a son of a gun. Many of us went out that night with the smoke. I ate my share. One of the newspapermen happened to see me stretched out fighting for air. I wasn't hurt much, so I got up, grabbed my hose line and went at it again. That reporter called me 'Smoky Joe.' The name stuck."

And from that day to this Joseph B. Martin is known in every fire headquarters from New York to Frisco as "Smoky Joe."

"I ought to be good for ten years yet," Martin said. "That would put me fifty years in the service—100,000 fires for 'Smoky Joe' personally aids at more than 2,000 fires a year."

That's why he has been crowned "World's Champion Fireman."

BERLIN AND VIENNA OF TODAY

An observant American, Mr. Lathrop Stoddard, has recently revisited the two capital cities of the Germanic world, and in Scribner's for December he outlines certain of the likenesses and contrasts that especially impressed him. The thing which most strikes the returning traveler who knew Berlin and Vienna before the war, according to Mr. Stoddard, is their common demilitarization. Whereas ten years ago the streets of both cities were alive with officers and soldiers, today one rarely sees a soldier. During his entire stay in Berlin, Mr. Stoddard saw only two sentries, and they were stationed in front of President Ebert's official residence.

In Berlin, however, Mr. Stoddard had it brought home to him that there is a half-suppressed war feeling prevalent throughout the city. There is constant talk of "the War in the Ruhr," boycott notices against French and Belgian goods are posted in shop windows, and in the hotel lobbies one reads this curt announcement: "French and Belgians Not Served Here."

In Vienna, on the other hand, one comes in contact with a people which has ceased to struggle against fate. The Viennese have apparently given up their imperial traditions, have resigned themselves to their losses and have become reconciled to a moderate degree of well-being. These are very different from the gaily-loving Viennese of other days, but their city is far better off than it was a year ago, when Austria was placed under an international receivership exercised by the League of Nations. The country has been wrested from bankruptcy, its currency has been stabilized, and in Mr. Stoddard's opinion Vienna is fast asserting its position as the natural financial and commercial center of mid-Europe. For the first time since the Armistice the majority of Austrians are free from positive suffering.

Of the two cities, Berlin offers far more instances of actual distress. Mr. Stoddard gives an account of an evening that he spent with two Berlin University professors and their wives; men whose names are both well known in the American learned world.

They described to me their pinched lives, and their haunting dread of the coming winter, which they felt would be far and away the worst that Germany had yet known. These highly educated folk told me how, for years past, they had been deprived of the simplest amenities of life—no books, no music, no theaters, no excursions. Recently they were giving up visiting their friends in parts of the city beyond easy walking distance because of the high cost of trolley fares (less than two cents in American money), while even correspondence had to be strictly curtailed owing to the high cost of postage—although postage in Germany costs but a tithe of what it does elsewhere. It was in this connection that they unconsciously revealed to me the full depth of their privations. An argument arose as to whether it was cheaper to use old envelopes by pasting gummed paper over the former address or whether the gummed paper was more expensive than the new envelopes of the cheapest possible quality! When the university professors and their wives discuss such economies, the intellectual class is indeed in a bad way!

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The revival of trade and industry which came in full tide last spring made the year 1923 a prosperous one to a degree that seems truly marvelous so soon after the huge losses and desperate business difficulties of 1920 and the following year. The best informed authorities feel that during the new year this industrial activity will continue unabated except for minor doubts and frights arising from the uncertainties of a presidential campaign. One of the most direct tests of trade activity is the record of carloadings; these did not reach a million cars a week at any time in 1921 or 1922 and in only four weeks of the boom year 1920. In 1923 the average for the entire year will be very close to one million cars a week. In spite of the general feeling that the war demands had brought into existence manufacturing capacity beyond the consumptive possibilities of the nation, Judge Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, recently gave it as his opinion that we have not even yet realized the possibilities of industrial expansion in the United States. He has seen the production of steel grow from 10,000,000 tons a year, in 1900 to about 40,000,000 today, less than a quarter of a century later.

SECRETARY WALLACE AND THE WHEAT QUESTION

Secretary Wallace finds the aggregate money value of eleven staple crops for 1923 to be almost seven billion dollars as against something like five and one-quarter for 1921 and five and three-quarters for 1922. Besides this increase in gross nominal income, the farmer finds that his dollar has increased somewhat in purchasing power. The prices of corn, cotton, and wool are high, those of dairy products are fairly stable, while the wheat situation is bad.

The Government fairly forced the farmers to increase their wheat acreage in the war period, while it ordered the consumers to eat other things in order that the wheat might be sent to Europe. "The evil result of these policies continue," says Secretary Wallace. Per capita consumption of wheat bread is still below normal averages in Europe. Summing up a general discussion, the Secretary says that "the farmers' troubles are due primarily to the low prices for their farm products and to the high prices of the services and articles they must buy." Agriculture is particularly hurt because changes of price level make it hard for the farmer to meet his fixed payments of taxes, interest on loans, and so forth. Adverse rural conditions have been sending country people to the towns, and the Agricultural Department estimates that the net change of this character in the single year 1922 resulted in taking about 1,200,000 people away from the land.

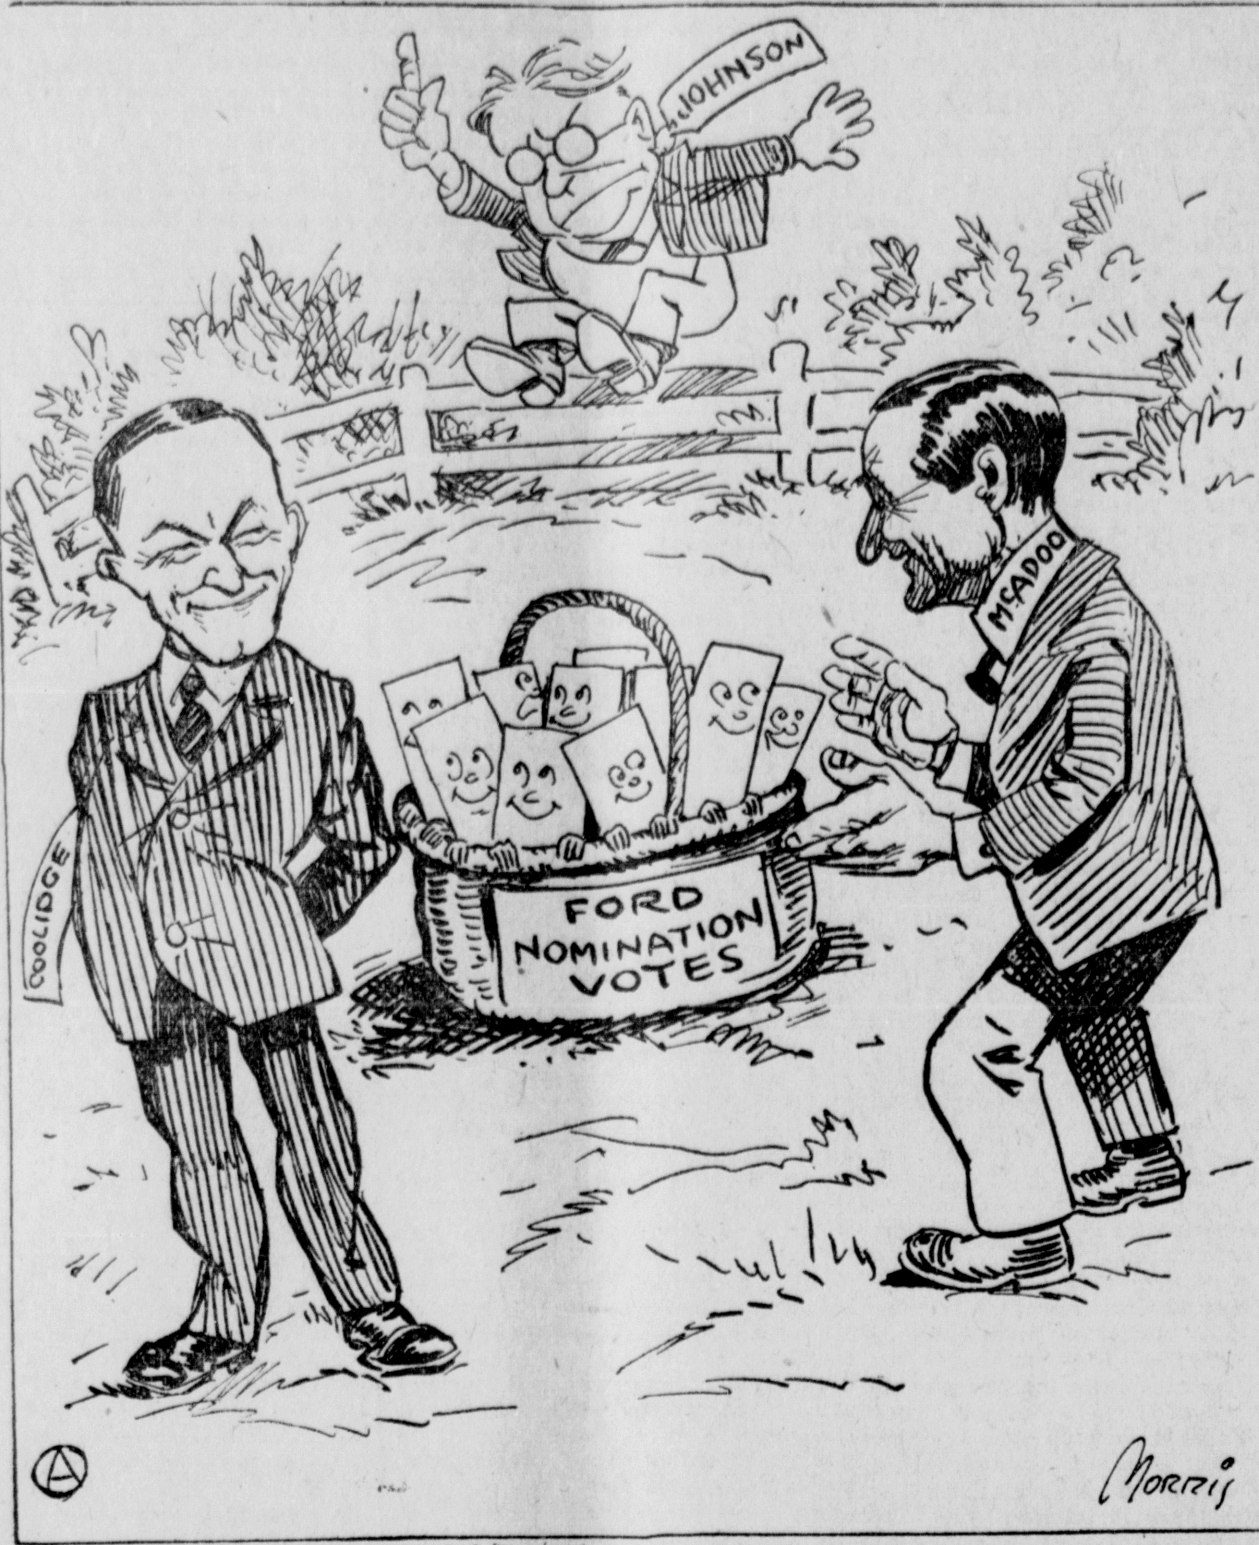

THE STORY TELLER

He isn't much on dinner speeches,
Has a voice which scarcely reaches.
Half across the room—a mumble
Like the summer bees which bumble
Round the larkspur and the roses,
But let little eyes and noses
Turn his way—he's in his glory
Telling them some fairy story.
Old folks cannot start him talking,
A silent man when walking;
Won't begin a conversation
On the perils of a nation,
Or religion, or the stages
Of our progress through the ages,
But he has a way compelling
When it comes to story telling,
He can take the Toms and Marys

Wandering with real fairies;
He can babble like a fountain
Of the glants on a mountain,
And as wide eyes start to glisten
And young ears stretch out to listen,
From his lips the words come slippling
Just like honey when it's dripping.
Wasn't made for great oration,
Argument or explanation;
Grown-up language seems above him,
But the little children love him,
And I never see or hear him,
With the youngsters crowding near him,
Held enraptured by his story,
But I envy him his glory.

Mr. Otto Hornick, the crack pool player of this city, again added to his laurels in this line by playing Buck Ewing of the Brooke band at the National billiard hall last night. He defeated Ewing by a score of 240 to 90.

The successful housekeeper—that is, the good housekeeper—is she who looks upon her work as a profession. For, after all, housekeeping is the field for a career, just as the business world or the professional world. Not long ago I listened to a group of business girls talking about their work. "Whenever I see a woman who has climbed higher up in the business world, I know what she has been through," declared one of the girls. "So do I!" agreed another vehemently. "I know she's been through a lot of petty irritations and jealousies shown her by the people she has passed on the road to advancement. It takes courage to shrug off the criticisms and little slights of our co-workers. But that's what earning one's living means, being scared by an unsympathetic world."

As I listened to this bit of philosophy, I found myself thinking how similar a housekeeper's career is to a business woman's. She meets with the same criticisms and little slights—but from her neighbors instead of from office workers. She has to learn the lesson of shrugging off these irritations, if she would systematize her own household to suit herself—thereby advancing herself to a "higher up" place in the housekeeping profession.

I will illustrate this point from a true little incident; I know of a bride living at a distance from me. Shortly after her marriage I received a letter from her full of an inspiration; she had decided to buy a washing machine (she had a chance to get one second hand, therefore reasonably). "My husband and I can put by quite a little money if I learn to do the weekly wash myself, with the machine—instead of hiring a laundress," she wrote. But not long afterwards I received another letter from her. The tone of this was different: "I've decided against buying the washing machine," she told me. "My neighbors were all scandalized when I told them I was considering it. They seemed to think I couldn't possibly do the wash myself. None of them do their own wash."

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good," feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, or pimply face. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

DOES SHE UNDERSTAND THE IMPORTANCE OF INVESTMENTS?

Women spend about 90 per cent of the money used for ultimate products, so it is good economy for any man to co-operate in teaching them the importance of investing wisely. Women do not buy the steers on hoof, the bales of cotton or the standing timber. But they do buy about 90 per cent of all final products—that is, 90 per cent of the beefsteaks, shoes, cotton goods, thread and furniture. Millions of dollars worth of business is transacted every month through the hands of women.

Modern business has made specialists of us all. General speaking, men specialize in producing and women in dispensing income. One person can adequately attend to both functions. It is worth the while of the producing member to make sure that the women of his family understand the importance of reserving some portion of the income for investment, since the amount of income available for investment will largely depend upon the spending of the women of the average family.

AFTER AN OPERATION

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minnesota.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."—Mrs. JAMES WILKE, 933 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minn.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Wilke. Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Today's Talks

ON COMPLAINING

There is a most uncommon beauty and peacefulness about a herd of sheep or cattle grazing in some valley or open space. I have watched such a herd for hours and have always left with a higher sense of life's values.

I have never seen cattle quarrel among themselves. I have never seen one lamb at difference with its companions.

These dumb beasts of the field do not complain. Human beings do most of the complaining in this world. And they have the least to complain about.

Complaining is not only an evidence of weakness, but a recognition of it. The complainer advises the fact that he is not strong, that he is afraid to face difficulties, pain, unusual hardship.

One thing I have noticed—that those who really had some reason to complain, do not. Take the blind man the cripple, the one who is thrown upon the world all alone and yet faces bravely whatever comes, these are not the complainers.

The commonest complainers are found among those who have the least to complain about!

RURAL SCHOOLS TO TAKE PROMINENT PART OF PROGRAM

The Ohio State Teachers' Association through its educational council, has entered upon one of the biggest programs of research on public and semi-public questions in years, according to a statement by F. B. Reynolds, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Recommendations to be made, Mr. Reynolds said, will affect the general public as well as the teachers themselves.

County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Aultman agrees with other prominent school officials, in believing that the rural schools should be made the biggest objective in the outline of work in the state association. A greater opportunity for advancement of standard is seen in the rural schools, than in any other school department, Mr. Aultman said. School officials are striving to place the country schools on an equal basis with the city schools as possible.

Questions for investigation were delegated to the educational council at the mid-winter meeting of the teachers' association held in Columbus in December, and research has been started on many of them.

One important issue is that which calls for the drafting of plans to unite into one state association all of the educational forces and associations in the elementary, secondary, college, university and special fields in Ohio. If this is accomplished, it will mean an organization of unusual power in public affairs, Reynolds said.

Another study proposed concerns teacher-training institutes and state support. Efforts are being directed to obtain a supply of well-trained teachers equal to the needs of the schools of the state through state and local institutions and to obtain state support for such institutions.

Other new studies include: Methods by which the association may promote and protect educational interests before the legislature.

To discover and strengthen weak features in the compulsory attendance laws; to meet valid objections, and to simplify and make more effective the administration of the law.

To discover whether the present laws on county and district supervision are making for the best possible professional and educational results in rural schools of the state; and to recommend such changes as may be necessary to obtain for the county schools a quality of administration and supervision equal to that of the cities.

TAX ASSESSMENTS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Columbus, Jan. 26.—Tax assessments will be discussed today at a meeting between federal Judge Sater and several county prosecutors. The discussion will relate to the appeal to federal court of the Ohio Fuel Company and the Buckeye Pipe Line Company, for restraining orders against collection of taxes on their properties in 53 counties in Ohio. These companies claim that neighboring property is taxed at a much lower rate.

Some prosecutors favor lower taxes in their respective counties and others believe the rate now in effect should be retained.

Prosecutors Edward C. Stanton, Cuyahoga County, was re-elected president of the Prosecutors' State Association at its annual meeting yesterday. Charles H. Bell, Cincinnati, was chosen vice president, and Arthur Doyle, Akron, treasurer.

SAYS XMAS TREES NO FOREST PERIL

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 26.—Belief that there is no danger of depleting American forests through widespread use of Christmas trees, was voiced by Prof. Norman W. Sherer, Department of Horticulture, Ohio State University here.

"It is a custom that should never be discouraged, because it really takes but few trees," asserted Prof. Sherer suggesting cultivation of a Christmas tree industry on poor and idle land.

Explaining that only about 200 of the 3,000 trees per acre, in the average forest, reach maturity, Prof. Sherer said about 2,800 per acre, on the average, are weeded out through a process of nature. He declared that man, by cutting Christmas trees, "merely helps nature."

Prof. Sherer declared that fire constitutes a much greater menace to American forests than the harvesting of Christmas trees.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 26.—Trapped in the basement of a Piggy Wiggly grocery store, Peter C. Johnson was shot and killed early today as he and a companion were cracking the store's safe.

He decided to fight. While he was leveling his revolver, policeman George Kramer fired, the bullet crashing through the bandit's face, killing him instantly.

His companion, "Bill" Carson, who claims Detroit as his home, surrendered.

CHICAGO TOWER TO HAVE GREAT BELLS

Chicago, Jan. 26.—The mellow peal of cathedral chimes will sound the "Cambridge Quarters" in the tower of the Straus Building, now nearing completion in the heart of the Loop district here.

Four large bells will be installed at the base of the dome of the building and, with one exception, will be the highest of any bells in the world. The Metropolitan tower bells in New York City, of which the bells here will be an exact counterpart, are higher than the Straus bells will be.

Neither historic European cathedral towers nor the Houses of Parliament in London have bellfries that will reach the height of the Straus tower.

The principal bell of the group will weigh about three and a half tons, and the others will have weights of relative proportions.

The "Quarters" will be chimed by an electrically operated mechanical device, located directly beneath the bells, which, in addition to playing a few bars of the Handel melody every fifteen minutes, will ring loudly at the passing of each hour on the largest bell.

While the potency of these bells will be sufficient to make them heard for miles under favorable atmospheric conditions, the tones will be so soft that they may be listened to with pleasure by persons standing nearby. Arrangements are being made for enormous crowds of those who, it is expected, may wish to hear the tolling of the bells.

WOULD EXTEND LAW UNTIL YEAR 1930

Washington, Jan. 26.—Extension of the present three per cent immigration law to 1930, with the quota changed to one per cent of the 1890 census, was proposed in a bill introduced in the House today by Representative Cable, Republican of Ohio.

The quota is applied to Canada and Mexico. The reduced quota is applied to China and Mexico. The reduced quota would cut the number of immigrants to be admitted from 529,000 to about 123,000 a year.

Cable said the bill now in the house immigration committee has aroused the antipathy of the Italian, Japanese and other foreign governments and may be defeated.

CENTRAL HIGH DEFEATS TROY 15-14 IN FIRST INVASION OF MIAMI COUNTY FRIDAY NIGHT

Xenia Central High basketball rode to a victory over Troy High at Troy Friday night in its first invasion of Miami County on a two-day trip, winning 15 to 14.

The one-point flinx has now split 50-50 in the activities of Coach Earl Burners' terrors and the blue and white athletes, have little complaint after coming out on top of the heap at the Miami County capital.

A field goal by Ruten in the final seconds of play, won the game for the Xenia terrors. Troy led most of the way, but the score was always close and Xenia was holding to a 6 to 5 lead at the conclusion of the first half. In the third period Troy stepped out in front and a rally in the final quarter, which terminated in Ruten's timely toss, won the game for the Burner coaches athletes.

Zell, at center, was lifted in the final quarter on four personal fouls and Captain Schwab was shifted from guard to center, Buell taking Schwab's place at guard. Ruten led in the scoring of field goals, with two but Zell was high man with a fielder and three free shots. Allen starred for Troy with three field goals.

GOOD GAMES MARK COUNTY LOOP SET-TOS STAGED FRIDAY NIGHT

One big upset market play in the County court loop Friday night, the defeat of Bellbrook for the first time by Yellow Springs sending that team pocketing down the standing ladder.

The game also improved Yellow Springs' chances, but leaves Cedarville High in undisputed possession of the top rung as that team has not been defeated and did not play Friday night. Ross and Caesar Creek trenched themselves solidly in the front ranks, the former with a victory over Beaver Creek and the latter by defeating Spring Valley.

CAESAR CREEK WINS

Coach Baynard's Caesar Creek High School quintet continued to improve its position in the standing of the Greene County High School League Friday night by defeating Spring Valley High at Spring Valley 18 to 9.

Faulkner, M. Weaver and Peele starred for the Caesar Creek gang, while Noggle shone most brilliantly in the ranks of the defeated team. In a preliminary game, the Spring Valley High School girls beat the Caesar Creek girls 9 to 2.

Substitutions: Ross-Jones for Long. Field goals, Jones 1, Paris 1, Hawker 1. Referee: Crites, Wilmington College.

BELLBROOK DEFEATED

Coach "Slim" Dawson's crack Yellow Springs High School team, hitherto a dark horse in the county court loop, leaped into vicious activity at Yellow Springs Friday night by throwing a water bucket into the smooth running machinery of the championship-bound Bellbrook High team, defeating the Sugar Creek terrors 31 to 14.

To Yellow Springs goes the large red apple for being the first loop outfit to smear a defeat over the Bellbrook terrors, erstwhile rated as league leaders and hard to stop. Hughes and Stewart of Dawson's grandstand, located the nets at Yellow Springs with amazing regularity assisting greatly in riding Bellbrook to its initial fall. The first half ended 17 to 10 in favor of Dawson's pets, but the second half was turned into a top-sided affair. Crowl played best for Bellbrook. The lineup and summary:

Yellow Springs (31) Bellbrook (14)
Thompson.....RF.....Crowl

Yellow Springs High School girls will play Springfield High at Springfield field Saturday night.

The Yellow Springs boys have now won three games and lost but one moving their percentage in the loop standing up to .750. The girls have won two and lost one in the county loop.

ROSS WINS TWO GAMES

Coach A. F. Roush's fast-traveling Ross Twp. High School team demonstrated they will have to be considered in passing out honors in the county court loop Friday night by winning both ends of a double header with Beaver Creek High.

The boys won their game 22 to 3, permitting Coach Collins' terrors but one field goal during the melee, while the girls defeated the Beaver girls by a score of 41 to 14. Pittstick, Rose, Kavanagh and Cummings played similar parts in the scoring of the boys' game, while Cyphers, with a fielder and a foul, scored all of Beaver's points. The lineup and summary:

TEAPOT DOME IS THRUST IN COMING POLITICAL FIGHT

can be little excuse for what happened; there can be no excuse for failure to act immediately."

Virtually all Democrats in the Senate agreed with Johnson. They freely admitted that they intend to carry the whole question of naval reserve leases to the country in the approaching political campaign.

"No candidate can avoid the issue," declared Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama.

The Coolidge administration will take no action until the Senate hearing has virtually been completed. Fall himself, broken and ill, will be accorded an opportunity to tell his story Monday before action is begun either towards criminal prosecution or toward cancellation of the leases he negotiated with the Sinclair and Doheny interests. He arranged loans ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 from both, according to the evidence.

Meanwhile the public lands committee itself went back to work today to try to straighten out the maze of conflicting testimony and charges before it.

Archie Roosevelt and G. D. Wahlberg, both of whom resigned from Sinclair's company because of "suspicions," were summoned by Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, concerning a payment of $68,000 to Tom Johnson, foreman of Mr. Fall's New Mexico ranch. Roosevelt previously testified Wahlberg had told him about cancelled checks for this amount which aroused his suspicions. Wahlberg later said Roosevelt was mistaken, that he made no mention of $68,000 but had referred to "six or eight cattle."

Interest of the committee also settled around an unsigned memorandum found in the committee's files. Clerks declared they do not know how it got there. The memorandum denied Fall ever borrowed money from Sinclair or Doheny and assailed the investigation into Fall's private financial affairs "as an attack upon decency."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, said today C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law or Senator Smoot, may be called to the stand to tell if he knew anything about the memorandum.

Testimony of Fred C. Dezenford, former employee of the land office, that the government failed to act upon his adverse report on the acquisition of sections 16 and 36 in Elk Hills, started the committee into a thorough investigation of the California lease. Leslie C. Garnett, former special assistant attorney general, charged Attorney General Daugherty failed to act upon his recommendations that proceedings be launched to recover the land, said to be mineral bearing and thus not open to entry. Garnett said he was told by Daugherty, in a note delivered to him by a counsel for the Standard Oil Company, not to take any action "until you have heard from me."

FARM PROGRESS

MAKE STATE OWNED FARM PRODUCTIVE TO HIGH DEGREE

Did you know that you, as a citizen of Ohio, owned a farm in Clermont County, that in 10 years has been transformed from the county's poorest farm to one of the best in southern Ohio?

All Ohioans share in the success of the state experiment farm at Owensville on the Hillsboro pike, 10 miles east of Milford.

In 10 years your farm's corn yield has been increased from 16.15 bushels to 73.24 bushels. Wheat, which averaged only 5.69 bushels an acre 10 years ago, amounted to 49 bushels an acre when harvested from a field sown Sept. 23, 1923.

A field of seven acres, which has been limed and fertilized every four years, yielded 34.42 bushels in 1923, as compared with 26.75 bushels in 1913.

Potatoes to the amount of 38 bushels an acre were raised by wheat and clover rotation. Home-mixed fertilizer was used at the rate of 200 pounds of acid phosphate, 50 pounds of potash and 50 pounds of nitrate of soda to an acre.

CALF CLUB MEETS

Members of the Dairy Calf Club committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau, met at the office of County Agent Ford S. Prince, Saturday. Those present included E. E. Pinney, Cedarville; C. J. Melinger, Miami; Sam Andrews, and Frank Wolf, Xenia.

SAY OHIO WOMAN FLEECE SISTER

New York, Jan. 26.—Miss Clara Louise Faber, 34 years old, formerly an employee of the Guaranty Trust Company, was held for further hearing by Magistrate McGuade on a charge of grand larceny.

The complainants are Mrs. Minna E. Porsch and her sister, Miss Margaret Schroeder, of Schroeder & Co., manufacturers. Miss Faber and her two accusers had been friends for 15 years. Although the charge is based on the amount of $1,500, the sisters accuse Miss Faber of having fleeced them of more than 10,000 by selling railroad bonds to them in the name of the Guaranty Trust Company, after she had left its employ.

In court Miss Faber declined to make any statement beyond "I wish one week's adjournment to get in touch with my relatives in Dayton, Ohio."

"The derby is back for a long run. Fashion decrees more conservatism and formality in evening dress. Business clothes will be loose-fitting. Trousers will not pinch the knee. Pockets will be spacious. Lapels will be larger and waistcoats will be double-breasted."—L. C. Tyler, chairman, fashion committee, Merchant Tailor Designers.

"I have two children. I want them to grow up to appreciate the value of money—not to be dependent upon a rich father. I know the value of a dollar—I worked for it. I want my children to have the same knowledge. Too many of the children of rich men I know, are no better than spendthrifts—having not the slightest knowledge of the value of money. My kids are going to wear cotton stockings so they can appreciate the silk ones they will earn later on. I want them to grow up and be useful citizens of their country, not parasites. And if they follow my rule of working and treating the other fellow square, they can have the same success that I have had, or anyone else can have."—I. C. Herman, wealthy New York manufacturer, who has turned over his business to two of his employees.

ONLY GOODBYE Chapter 75

Their faces seemed strange and masklike as they worked to mend the canoe by the flickering light of the lantern. Each of them was struggling to hide their real feelings from the other. Lee's heart was sorely hurt and desperate, while Hope felt a strange happiness that seemed to make her helplessly lonely in spite of the joy of it.

"There! That's not so bad. It ought to hold, don't you think?" she declared breaking the silence.

"It's pretty tight. Let's look at the inside," he responded without enthusiasm.

She picked up the lantern from where it rested on the canoe and held it, while he turned the canoe over.

"Let's have the mending tape. I'll put a piece on the inside."

She drew it from her pocket and handed it to him.

"Lucky I have a boy's propensity for carrying all sorts of things in my pockets," she said, trying to force a lightness into her voice.

He did not answer.

"It's nearly two miles further and we've only 20 minutes to make it. We must start Lee—and hurry," she suggested.

He picked up the canoe, then paused suddenly as if he was waiting for something—hoping that there would be something that she might wish to say.

And as he waited a fear crept into Hope's heart; a fear that she would say something—something which her love for him cried out to say.

But she did not move; and he grew impatient of waiting and pushed the canoe quickly into the dark water.

He took her hand as she stepped into it and for a second gripped it tightly.

"It—it's goodbye then?" he interrogated.

"Yes—it's goodbye. You know what good-bye means?" she asked, returning the pressure of his fingers. "It means. God be with you."

He dropped her hand slowly and got into the canoe. He found little comfort in her words. His love longed for something more. And she quickly sensed his disappointment.

For a second before she picked up the paddle she fought the desire to reach out and put her arms about him as he sat there in front of her. To let him go like that out of her life, thinking that she did not care, was one of the hardest things that she had ever been called upon to do. She thought rebelliously—"Am I making too great a sacrifice?" and then her mind rushed suddenly to Hugh—Hugh with his great need for her. After all, it was not the wants but the needs that had to be considered in this world. She might want Lee Brown, but she did not need him now, and if she should gratify her wants it would be another's need that must suffer. It would be Hugh's great need that she would be neglecting.

She looked again at Lee's broad shoulders in front of her.

"No! They are strong, so much stronger than poor Hugh's" she thought suddenly.

Then she picked up the paddle and dipped it quickly into the black water and sent the canoe rushing forward again on its way.
